Foreword

ISO (the International Organization for Standardization) is a worldwide federation of national standards bodies (ISO member bodies). The work of preparing International Standards is normally carried out through ISO technical committees. Each member body interested in a subject for which a technical committee has been established has the right to be represented on that committee. International organizations, governmental and non-governmental, in liaison with ISO, also take part in the work. ISO collaborates closely with the International Electrotechnical Commission (IEC) on all matters of electrotechnical standardization.

The procedures used to develop this document and those intended for its further maintenance are described in the ISO/IEC Directives, Part 1. In particular the different approval criteria needed for the different types of ISO documents should be noted. This document was drafted in accordance with the editorial rules of the ISO/IEC Directives, Part 2 (see www.iso.org/directives).

Attention is drawn to the possibility that some of the elements of this document may be the subject of patent rights. ISO shall not be held responsible for identifying any or all such patent rights. Details of any patent rights identified during the development of the document will be in the Introduction and/or on the ISO list of patent declarations received (see www.iso.org/patents).

Any trade name used in this document is information given for the convenience of users and does not constitute an endorsement.

Introduction

This document describes the context of, and guidelines for, the governance of projects, programmes and portfolios.

The governance of projects, programmes and portfolios includes, but is not limited to, areas of governance that relate to projects, programmes and portfolios. Organizations can use this document for the governance of any one or all of their projects, programmes, or portfolios.

This document is intended to be used by any organization and any group of organizations for projects, programmes or portfolios of any size and complexity, but might require tailoring to the specific needs of the organization. In addition, this document is designed to provide guidance for governing bodies and for executive and senior management that can have governance responsibilities within their organizations.

This document refers to the governance of projects, governance of programmes and governance of portfolios, which is intended to be interchangeable with the terms project governance, programme governance and portfolio governance.
